FUJI

Home workstation

If you're working from home with limited space, then the Fuji folding desk may be the perfect choice for your home office, bedroom, den or study room. The compact design has a beech top with metal legs, and the flat-fold mechanism makes it easy to store out of the way when not in use and just as fast to assemble when you need to get on with your work again. It's your all in one solution for everyday home working needs.
